Notice of Hearing On Pool Exception Sparks Citizen-Council Discussion

by Al Skolnik

Announcement that the county commissioners on Friday, Nov. 18, will hold a hearing for a special exception for a swimming pool on the 25-acre tract being developed as the University Square Apartments by the Lerner Development Company touched off a spirited discussion at last Monday's city council meeting. The hearing will be at the County Service Building in Hyattsville.

Lakecrest homeowners protested the proposed location of a swimming pool and bathhouse on the tract west of Lakeside Drive extended and east of Lakecrest Drive bordering on the property of residents of Pinecrest Court. The residents claim that they were promised when they bought their homes that this land would be reserved as a buffer zone.

Sigmund Schuldiner, speaking for several Lakecrest residents, pointed out that the city of Greenbelt has an appeal case pending in Maryland's highest court which objects to the development of the 50-acre Charlestowne tract, including the University Square Apartments, as a violation of covenants. In light of the city's objections, he did not see how the city could now turn around and approve any exception for a swimming pool.

Councilmen Dave Champion and Dick Pilski asked whether the city would be fair to future residents of University Square if it recommended denying a swimming pool that the developer was ready to build for them. Schuldiner said the councilmen were presuming that the city was going to lose its case. Champion said that he was only being realistic.

Unreasonable?

Mayor Edgar Smith said that the county commissioners might consider it unreasonable for the city to protest the special exception, unless it had an alternative suggestion for a site. Schuldiner argued that he did not consider it unreasonable for the city to back up its court case by protesting another violation of the covenant. As a minimum, he said, the council should ask the county commissioners to delay their decision pending the outcome of the appeal case. If this request were denied, then the question of an alternative swimming pool site could be considered, he said.

On this point, Champion asked the Lakecrest residents how they would feel if the developer switched the swimming pool with an apartment house scheduled across the street. Schuldiner replied that all he wanted was what the original owner had promised (that is, that the land remain as a buffer). The councilmen in unison replied, "So do we," but again reiterated that one had to be realistic.

One Pinecrest Court resident whose house faced a University Square apartment building going up said he would prefer a swimming pool instead of the apartments as he didn't fancy his sun porch being the object of viewers from the apartment house balconies. One councilman facetiously suggested that perhaps a trade should have been worked out.

Finally, the council voted unanimously to advise the developer that the council would ask for a delay on the special exception, and that if the delay is not granted, the council would recommend denial for a pool at the suggested site. The developer will also be asked if he has any alternative suggestions for a site.

Easement

Lakecrest residents also raised some questions about a request of the Lerner Development Company for a WSSC easement on city-owned property for a storm sewer outfall. According to the residents, the current construction had changed the contour of the land, resulting in water drainage onto Pinecrest Court lots. As one resident put it, "We have a swimming pool in our back yard now."

City Manager James K. Giese explained that the new storm sewer system would correct the situation. It would run from the Co-op gas station, past the Jewish Community Center to the Greenbelt Lake area, picking up the natural drainage from the water shed. Underground pipes of 6'6" size would be used, instead of an open ditch.

Giese said that the outfall could be constructed on the developer's property, but there would be two advantages to using the city-owned property. One, the storm sewer system could be extended down to the lake without cost to the city and there would be less erosion. Giese noted that WSSC could get the easements by eminent domain.

Councilmen were concerned about what would happen to the drainage at the termination point of the storm sewer. Pilski said that a similar situation occurred in the Lakewood subdivision and that the city was finally compelled to expend its own funds to help eradicate the flooding. He wanted to be sure that this problem was faced when the developer was still around and not after he has left town. A question was also raised as to the amount of shrubbery and trees that would be destroyed as the result of constructing underground pipes.

It was decided to continue discussion of the matter at a special council meeting already scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 15, to finish the agenda.

Police Board

The council gave final approval to the establishment of a Police Board of Inquiry, with an expiration date of August 31, 1967. The Board consists of city council members and four other citizens appointed by the Mayor. It shall conduct an investigation of the administration, operation and public relations of the police department and give attention to the need for new policies or ordinances relating to public safety, public relations, law enforcement, and functions of the department. It will also consider changes in compensation and classification plans and personnel needs.

Other Items

The council heard a plea for review of the present animal ordinance dealing with cats not on a leash. Such cats may be impounded. The item was placed on a future agenda.

Council voted to set up a 15-mile-per-hour school zone for the new elementary school at Springhill Lake.

VETERAN'S DAY

Mayor Edgar Smith designated and proclaimed "the day of Nov. 11th, 1966 as Veterans Day in Greenbelt," and urged all Greenbelters to join with the veterans' organizations in the public celebration that will take place tomorrow.

Giese Attends Meeting Of City Managers

City manager James K. Giese returned Nov. 7 from a two-week visit in the Southwest. He attended a four-day conference of the International City Managers' Association, held in Phoenix, Ariz., from October 23 to 26. Following the conference he took a short leave to travel in the area.

The overriding concern of the conference, Giese reports, was a look ahead into problems of the cities of the future. Both the magnitude of these problems and their implications for changes in city administration were emphasized.

Most speakers saw the cities of the future getting larger and larger. Frequent reference was made to the so-called "Megalopolis" of the East Coast, to stretch from Boston to Richmond. Since half the present population of the U.S. is under age 25 and the crop of war babies have now grown up to the age when they themselves will begin to have children, a new sharp growth cycle is expected.

Countering this view, however, was one speaker who saw higher mobility as working against the trend toward greater urban concentrations of population. With better transportation, industries are no longer forced to locate in metropolitan areas, he said.

Other problems dealt with in workshop sessions of the conference were race relations, relations between city and church, and the future direction of the city management profession. There is a growing development, it was noted, in the use of professionally trained people in various administrative positions in city governments.

AGNEW VICTORIOUS IN GREENBELT; DEMOCRATS SWEEP OTHER RACES

by Al Skolnik

Spiro T. Agnew, Republican candidate for Governor, won an overwhelming victory in Greenbelt in last Tuesday's balloting, racking up 2,734 votes or 68 percent of the total. His opponents, Democrat George P. Mahoney and Independent Hyman A. Pressman drew 990 (25 percent) and 295 votes (7 percent), respectively.

About 4,070 voters went to the polls, the largest number ever to vote in Greenbelt. This number represented 76.4 percent of the 5,325 registered voters — a record high percentage for an off-year election.

The vote for Agnew was obviously a protest against Mahoney since Democrats swept every other office in the Greenbelt voting. Agnew's majority was greatest in the Springhill Lake precinct where he drew 78 percent of the vote.

Other State Races

Incumbent Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein received 3,031 votes to Republican Charles Bresler's 900 votes, a 77 percent majority. Bresler made his best showing in Springhill Lake where he drew 393 votes to Goldstein's 730. In the other two Greenbelt precincts, Bresler received 507 votes, or 18 percent of the total.

In the other Statewide contest, Republican candidate for Attorney General William O. Doub, did somewhat better receiving 33 percent of the Greenbelt vote against his Democratic opponent Francis B. Burch.

Incumbent Democrat Hervey G. Machen, running against Republican Larry Hogan for a second term to Congress from the Fifth District, received 54.7 of the vote, considerably below the 61.6 percent majority he received in Greenbelt in 1964.

Democrat Edward T. Conroy, running for the State Senate seat from the new 1st Subdistrict, also ran into tough opposition. He received 56.9 percent of the vote against Republican William W. Gullett.

County Results

Democrats running for the House of Delegates and for county offices ran up majorities in most cases of between 60 to 65 percent. This is below the normal majorities racked up by Democratic county candidates in Greenbelt.

Gladys Spellman was high Democrat in the voting for county commissioners. In fact, her 2,366 votes was the highest number cast for any county office.

All the referendum-type questions were approved by large margins in Greenbelt. The vote in favor of a parallel Chesapeake Bay Bridge was 2,047 to 877. The vote in favor of a new system to undertake code home rule government was 1,841 to 886.

Let's Support Our Theatre

It is always a sad commentary when a local enterprise dies from a lack of local support. This is especially true in Greenbelt, the city which came into being as the result of intense, heartfelt co-operation. When our local theatre closed its doors, its closing meant many things to many people. To the kids who attend the Saturday matinees, it meant one place less to go. To the long-time residents, it meant a rueful backward glance to a place that had given much entertainment in the past.

Now, however, things are looking up. Paul McDaniel, who used to manage the theatre, has taken over its ownership. He is determined that the Greenbelt Theatre will not die. Prices are being slashed drastically to combat the drift to the newer and perhaps more glamorous theatres. Kids will again have a place to go on Saturday afternoon, and their mothers will rediscover what a marvelously cheap device a Saturday afternoon matinee can be.

But a theatre cannot exist on the money that comes in on one afternoon. It needs our continuing support to prove that we Greenbelters support our own.

COUNTY HOLIDAY FRIDAY

All Prince Georges County governmental agencies, including the Courts, will be closed on Friday, November 11, in observance of Veterans' Day. Also closed will be the Park and Planning Commission and the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission. Business as usual will resume on Monday, November 14.

The public schools are the only exception. Classes will be held as usual.

NEW YORK CITY TOUR

The Greenbelt Travel Club is tentatively planning a two day New York visit on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 10-11. The trip would feature a tour of the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, a Christmas Shopping spree, and an opportunity to see the fabulous Christmas show at Radio City Music Hall.

Further information will be available at Twin Pines Savings & Loan Association in the near future.

Boxwood Village Notes

The newly organized Boxwood Civic Association held its first open membership meeting, Wednesday evening, Nov. 2, in the Co-op Hospitality Room. Approximately 65 civic-minded Boxwood residents braved the rains to attend. Mayor Edgar Smith, guest speaker, addressed the group concerning the various needs of a new community for a civic association.

This was an introductory meeting for most of the residents of Boxwood Village. Nominations were made for BCA's first annual election of officers to be held in December. Nominations will be re-opened at the December meeting.

The following officers, who have served since the inception of the Association, will remain in office until January, 1967. Acting President, Betty Smith; Acting Vice-President, John Beaird; Treasurer, David Unger; Secretary, Mildred Larsen. Temporary Committee members are: Hugh McEvoy, Robert O'Brien, Billie McCulley, Elaine Nussbaum, John Beaird, Mary and Jerry Katz.

All residents of Boxwood Village are urged to attend the Dec. 7 meeting and election of officers.

Mobile X-ray Unit

The Prince Georges County Tuberculosis and Health Association's Mobile X-Ray unit will appear at the Greenbelt Shopping Center, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 15.

City Notes

This week a line painting crew from the Prince Georges County Highway Dept. will paint center lines down the length of Crescent, Ridges, Hillside, Research, and Southway. No-passing zones will also be marked. This work will be done with large machines, such as are used for marking highways. Preliminary markings, in the form of white dots, were put down by the county crew last week to measure the center of the roadways. Cost of the program will come out of tax payments from Greenbelters earmarked for county highway maintenance.

The city's public works crew has also been working on road maintenance this week. On Tuesday they were out with the "tar bucket," sealing cracks in the pavements before the onset of winter. They also repaired a section of Edmonston Rd., near the old underpass to the Junior High School. They laid down both concrete base and asphalt topping.

Friday, Veterans Day, will be a holiday for most city employees. City offices, except for the Police Dept., will be closed. Garbage collections will be made as usual.

Ray Crittenden, an employee on the Public Works Dept. crew for about three years, has resigned. He and his family are moving to Denver, Colo. Mrs. Crittenden will be remembered as a former crossing guard at St. Hugh's School.

Arlene Anderson

Former Greenbelter Mrs. Arlene (Von Winkle) Anderson, 30, of 27 Chesterfield Rd., Worcester, Mass., died Nov. 6 at the Worcester City Hospital from burn injuries received accidentally. She lived in Greenbelt for 5 years before going to Worcester two and a half months ago, where her husband Jeremy is a professor in the Geography Dept., Clark University. She was a member of the League of Women Voters in Greenbelt and of the Univ. of Md. Faculty Club.

Besides her husband and parents in San Anselmo, Cal., she leaves 2 sons, Jeffrey and Eric and a brother, Thomas Van Winkle of Honolulu.

Memorial services were held in Worcester, Wed., Nov. 9.

The family suggests contributions to Clark University, Worcester, Mass., or Care, Boston, Mass. 02116. No flowers.

To the Editor

Beware the Dangerous Litter

To the Editor:

We Greenbelters are threatened by a danger, which in its own way is every bit as sinister and just as hazardous, as any facing our soldiers in Viet Nam. The danger of which I speak is the injury to the children of Greenbelt which lurks in the rusty nails, broken glass bottles, and other assorted items which have been thrown around by those who have no pride in Greenbelt or just plain do not care!

I won't speak here of beautification or home town pride, however, because this went out the window with the increasing encroachments made in the name of "progress." But I believe that it is time to speak of the cost to parents and pet owners when a cruel and unnecessary injury occurs.

It is time for the people of Greenbelt, especially those of us who remember what Greenbelt once was, to make a common effort for the purpose of preventing this danger. It is far simpler not to break bottles, and to ask our children to show human decency, than it is to pay high taxes necessitated by an adequate clean-up campaign or stricter anti-littering enforcement. Waste baskets and common considerations are less costly than medical care.

It is never too late to restore the spirit of co-operation that Greenbelt was founded upon, nor to prevent accidents before they occur. This is a job for everyone who lives in Greenbelt, and it will require a common effort. We will all benefit if Greenbelt is a cleaner and safer place in which to live.

GHI Directors Discuss Budget, Housekeeping

by Al Skolnik

Among the topics discussed at the Nov. 3 meeting of the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors were the coming budget meetings, efforts to help people keep clean houses, and encroachments of common corporation property. The meeting was relatively brief, as only one week had elapsed between meetings due to the new holiday schedule. The board in Nov. and Dec. will be meeting on the first and third Thursday of the month instead of the second and fourth.

Preliminary meetings on the 1967 budget will be held on Nov. 15 and 29, with the hope that the final budget will be adopted in early Dec.

Board director Katherine Keene discussed complaints she had received from purchasers who moved into homes that had not been left in clean condition. She asked whether the corporation could devise some way of encouraging departing home owners to leave their houses in good condition. She felt that the interest of the corporation was involved because of the poor impression left on new residents by such circumstances. Management will investigate.

The board was advised that a new regulatory agency — Dept. of Inspections and Permits — had been set up at the county level which would investigate complaints of unhealthy conditions.

Several problems have arisen with respect to GHI homeowners preempting space for their own use that is part of the common property of the courts. In some cases, fences were placed on the property. Often the present owner is unaware of the problem since he purchased property with an existing fence. GHI is thinking of denoting property lines for all owners. The item will be placed on the agenda of a future meeting.

The board agreed to join the National Cooperative Housing Association through its membership in the Eastern Cooperative Housing Organization (ECHO) which consists of housing projects that have converted from government ownership to cooperative ownership. Annual membership fees are computed at the rate of 10 cents

Lower Rates at Greenbelt Theatre

In a sincere effort to keep the Greenbelt Theatre open, Paul McDaniel, who is now operating the theatre on his own, has initiated a policy of lower rates.

In the belief that "empty seats don't do anybody any good," McDaniel has lowered the rates for children, started a special Teenage Theatre Club featuring discount rates for members and lowered the rates for adult admission to compensate for the fact that the theater is "old."

As an added incentive to children attending Saturday matinees, McDaniel intends to re-introduce "serials". He is also planning to give certain prizes to the kiddies.

Plans are being made to install a suggestion box in the lobby so that ideas can be considered.

PUBLIC MOVE-OUT

The George Harris family are having a "Public Move-Out", complete with pickets, from their 9-A Parkway apartment this Saturday from 1-3 p.m., in order to "protest the closed occupancy policy of the apartments we have lived in for 27 months," says Harris.

When Harris concluded his walk protest to and from the Univ. of Md., he decided to concentrate his efforts on Greenbelt, specifically to change the policy of the apartments in which he lived. After 6 months he has given up. Harris says he has gotten "nothing but phony promises from the mayor on down." The Harrises will move into an integrated neighborhood, where they have purchased a home.

Asked if he would like to return to Greenbelt, he said, "When the teacher of my daughter can live here in the apartment of her choice and all people are treated and respected equally, then I would like to come back. I am very fond of Greenbelt."

Introduced to the board was Manager Roy Breashears' new administrative assistant, William Johnston. Johnston, a 1964 graduate of Roosevelt University in Chicago, resides in College Park. He formerly taught high school.

Police Blotter

Officers Bennett and Combs have recently graduated from the basic course offered by the Maryland State Police Academy in Pikesville.

A family on Research Rd. reported that $120 worth of receipts belonging to their Washington Post newsboy son was stolen while he was out on his route. The money was recovered.

A Springhill Lake resident came home one evening to find that a package had been left, addressed to her, on her door step. Inside, carefully wrapped, was a voodoo doll including a stuck pin and several slashes. A warning note, threatening that she was next, was included. Police have a suspect in mind.

An alert resident of Lakeside North was responsible for the arrest of three people suspected of an attempted breaking and entering of the Lakeside North rental office. This resident called the police when he saw several unfamiliar persons loitering around after 1 a.m. Officers Capp and Salvatore responded to the call and found the rental office door jimmied. Gloves and burglar tools belonging to the suspects were found in the vicinity of the rental office.

Other breaking and entering offences reported during the last few weeks include the Co-op Gas Station and the Greenbelt Tobacco Shop.

A small wooden cross, wrapped in burlap, was found burning on Crescent Rd. near the lake. The work is believed by police to have been done by a Washington resident.

Thefts from cars are beginning to increase, particularly at the Klein's lot on Saturdays. One recent Saturday brought the following calls: 3 thefts from cars, 2 attempted thefts, and 1 car stolen. Chief Lane urges shoppers using Kleins lot, or any other public lot, to be sure to lock their cars and store all items of value out of sight.

October Statistics

The following statistics were reported for the month of October: traffic tickets issued - 40; juvenile contacts - 10; criminal violations - 37; warnings issued - 230.

There were 31 traffic accidents investigated. Locations of accidents include: Old Greenbelt - 10; Greenbelt Rd. between Kenilworth Ave. and (including access) B-W Parkway - 7; Beltway Plaza - 6; Edmonston Rd. including Springhill Lake - 6. Chief reason was failure to yield right-of-way; most accidents took place on Saturdays from 7 a.m. - 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Community Development Month Proclamation

The proclamation designating November as "Community Development Month" states that Greenbelt "is and forever shall be embellished with the cloak of community consciousness." It further states that Community Development is a major program of the U.S. Jaycees and urges that every Jaycee "reexamine the worth of his organization and pledge himself to do all within his power to assure that his community grows and prospers through Community Development."

Now — U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E — 9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate. Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. It is presented as a public service in cooperation with the Treasury Department and The Advertising Council.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

Paperbacks for Vietnam

The Greenbelt Jaycees two-week Books-for-Vietnam drive starts this week-end, according to President Hal Siegel. "Our chapter has received word from the USO Clubs that there is a definite need for paperbacks, and we have agreed to attempt to collect used paperbacks in the Greenbelt area." Barrels will be placed in front of the Giant Food Store opposite the Beltway Plaza, at the Co-op Supermarket, and at Springhill Lake Community House this week-end. The Jaycees will collect and package the books and speed them on their way. Residents who want to help in this project, but who have no paperbacks, may send donations to P.O. Box 86; the money will be used to purchase stamps, wrapping paper, and used paperbacks from a local bookstore.

New Deer at Goddard Made to Feel at Home

A pair of yellow "Deer Crossing" signs, erected during the first week in October beside the road connecting Goddard Space Flight Center with the Baltimore Parkway, have been for many employees the first hint of a new addition to the center's wildlife. There seem to be three of them - a young buck and two does roaming through the wooded parts of the center and only seldom venturing close to areas of human activity.

According to Goddard's landscape architect, Walter L. Olson, the deer apparently arrived earlier this year during the construction of the Goddard interchange on the Baltimore Parkway. At that time a section of Goddard's fence was temporarily removed, enabling the deer to enter from the surrounding woods. The 9-foot fence is now closed again, but though mature deer might try to jump over such an obstacle, Olson said, the ones inside Goddard are not yet fully grown.

Be this as it may, the deer seem to be satisfied where they are. Early in the morning and occasionally in the afternoon, says Goddard's Security officer Ron Surgen, they cross the road leading to the parkway and quench their thirst in a recently completed reservoir, informally known as "Lake Goddard". It is in this vicinity that the cautionary signs were erected.

There are many deer in the woods surrounding Goddard, including a buck and several doe inside the perimeter of the tracking station across from it on Soil Conservation road. On the grounds of the Agricultural Station adjoining Goddard and in the Patuxent Wildlife Refuge which bounds it, they are protected from hunters and, according to Olson, the result is overpopulation of deer. One driver reported seeing as many as 11 of them grouped together near Beaver Dam road; another had the less pleasant experience, several months ago, of hitting and killing a deer that strayed onto Soil Conservation Road.

The deer inside the center, however, have plenty of space for wandering around, and only rarely do employees catch a glimpse of them. Goddard officials, by and large, seem to be pleased with their visitors.
